

TEST & TREAT

The Tests

Vitamin D

The most important hormone in the body. Correcting Vitamin D levels might be the simplest way to have profound impact on a patient's health.

B12 (Cobalamin)

B12, along with Folate, is a key indicator of gut health and nutritional status and should be evaluated in both healthy pets and patients with GI distress.

Magnesium

Required for most cellular processes, low magnesium levels can impair or prevent systems from operating at peak efficiency.

Hyaluronic Acid

A test for degenerative joint disease (eg. OA) that can signal when joint health is compromised. Early intervention improves outcomes.

Mineral & Toxic Metals (FUR)

Metal toxicity can be identified in fur, and when exposed, pets should detoxify. Mineral deficiencies are easy to fix.

VDI is about offering solutions, not just results. We partner with some of the industry's best, to provide you with products to resolve abnormal test results. Our integrated Test & Treat approach matches our lab results with solutions tailored specific to the individual patient.

Patient-specific dosing guidelines are built into the report to make taking action simple and quick.
